

Hornetsecurity, the premium provider of managed services, was founded in 2007 under the name antispameurope GmbH and ranks among the leading data traffic security providers in the German market. Since then, the company with headquarters in Hanover has expanded across Europe, and the product portfolio has grown to include both spam filters and contiguous solutions.

Consequently, the company changed its name to Hornetsecurity in 2015. Today, Hornetsecurity has an international sales network with more than 450 partners. More than 300 of these are in Switzerland, Germany and Austria. The company also has customers and distributors in Belgium, Italy, France, the Netherlands, Russia, Sweden, Spain, the United Kingdom and Cyprus. Currently, more than 26,000 companies use Hornetsecurity's services.

The solution portfolio includes services in the areas of email security, web Security and file security. Email security contains spam and virus filters, email archiving, continuity services and automatic email encryption. Web security is provided through the webfilter service, and the fully encrypted online storage HORNETDRIVE ensures the absolute protection of files and electronic documents. All Hornetsecurity products rely on the principle of the Cloud to protect IT systems and enterprise networks of customers against Internet-based threats and attacks. Distributing the systems among multiple secure data centres and data centres of customers ensures a high redundancy and so provides a highly available and redundant system around the clock. The SaaS solutions can be used by enterprises of all sizes with no additional software, hardware or need for maintenance. With the Hornetsecurity Control Panel, administrators and users keep tabs on data streams and functions of all services.

Hornetsecurity corporate strategy will focus in future on developing new markets. For several years the company has been working together with a partner in Malaysia that covers South-East Asia. Hornetsecurity is also planning new collaborations with partners in Latin America. The partner networks of the two regions are to be established and expanded over the long term.
